CALCUTTA. This, the chief port of British India, lies on the left bank of the Hooghly, about 100 miles above its entrance into the Bay of Bengal. The population of the city, including Howrah, according to the Census Report of 1911, was 1,216,514. Ships of 7,500 tons net, drawing 29 feet of water, can ascend to the city, where there is anchorage in 6 or 7 fathoms. Salvage operations are carried out by the port commissioners. There are manufactories of jute and gunny; also cotton spinning and weaving; paper mills, flour mills, rice mills, oil mills, shellac factories, soap factories, sugar works, paint works, jute presses, iron works, docks, foundries and roperies &c. There is a large export of tea, shellac, rice, wheat, linseed and other oil seeds, hides, skins, raw jute, jute manufactures, indigo, coal, castor oil &c. &c.

There are three Chambers of Commerce:

EUROPEAN.
Bengal Chamber of Commerce (H. M. Haywood, sec.; D. K. Gunnison, assistant sec.), Royal Exchange building, 2 Clive street.

NATIVE.
Bengal National Chamber of Commerce (Sita Nath Roy, B.L. hon. sec.), 285 Bow Bazar street
Marwari Chamber of Commerce, 203 Harrison road.

Besides these, there exist several mercantile associations affiliated to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, and an association for traders which is called Calcutta Trades Association (European).

CALCUTTA. This, the chief port of British India, lies on the left bank of the Hooghly, about 100 miles above its entrance into the Bay of Bengal. The population of the city, including Howrah, according to the Census Report of 1911, was 1,216,514. Ships of 7,500 tons net, drawing 29 feet of water, can ascend to the city, where there is anchorage in 6 or 7 fathoms. Salvage operations are carried out by the port commissioners. There are manufactories of jute and gunny; also cotton spinning and weaving; paper mills, flour mills, rice mills, oil mills, shellac factories, soap factories, sugar works, paint works, jute presses, iron works, docks, foundries and roperies &c. There is a large export of tea, shellac, rice, wheat, linseed and other oil seeds, hides, skins, raw jute, jute manufactures, indigo, coal, castor oil &c. &c.

There are three Chambers of Commerce:

EUROPEAN.
Bengal Chamber of Commerce (H. M. Haywood, sec.; D. K. Cunnison, assistant sec.), Royal Exchange building, 2 Clive street.

NATIVE.

Besides these, there exist several mercantile associations affiliated to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, and an association for traders which is called Calcutta Trades Association (European).

KARACHI or KURRACHEE (SIND) harbour is essentially a back water, having an area at high tide of 18 square miles, a portion of which, however, is not freely open to the tidal flow. The population of the town in 1911 was 159,000. This harbour, a few miles from the mouth of the Indus, occupies a most important position as a port for Sind and the Punjaub, with a large and rapidly increasing trade. Salvage operations are carried out by the port trust.

The principal commerce of the port is in export of wheat and seeds, cotton, wool and hides and skins; the imports of piece goods and hardware are also large.

The total import and export trade amounts to the value of about 200 millions of rupees, principally due to the import of cotton tissues, also the export of wheat and seeds (about 600,000 tons). Here is a Chamber of Commerce.

MADRAS is a town of 600,000 inhabitants. To meet the needs of a rapidly growing import and export trade, the harbour, during recent years, has been vastly improved. There is now a deep still water basin of adequate dimensions, with wharves for the loading and unloading of goods, and for the landing of passengers. Further extensions and improvements are still in progress. Salvage operations are carried out by the port authorities. The principal imports consist of cotton goods and yarn, metals, oils, spirits, machinery &c. while the principal exports are hides and skins, coffee, raw cotton, indigo, cereals, mica &c. Here is a Chamber of Commerce.

NAGPORE or NAGPUR, the capital of the CENTRAL PROVINCES and The Berars, headquarters of the administration, is situated on the great highway between Bombay and Calcutta. It is the junction of the Great Indian Peninsula and the Bengal-Nagpur railways. By the former it is 520 miles from Bombay and by the latter 701 miles from Calcutta. The population of Nagpur is about 124,599, according to the census of 1901.

The chief exports are raw cotton, yarn, cloth, wheat, rice, linseed, til-seed, and other agricultural produce.

The chief imports are salt, sugar, English piece and miscellaneous goods.

The whole import and export trade, with few exceptions, is in the hands of native traders.

The great article of manufacture is cloth. Cotton fabrics of all sorts and descriptions are produced.

TRICHINOPOLY (MADRAS) is a district lying between lat. 10° 37′ and 11° 30′ 30″, long. 78° 12′ and 79° 30′. It is bounded on the north-west and north by Salem; on the north and north-east by South Arcot; on the south-east by Tanjore; on the south by the Puducottah State and Madura District: on the west by Coimbatore. Area 3,631 square miles; population, 1,479,796; language spoken, Tamil. Trichinopoly is a large fortified town lying on the right bank of the Cavery, 251 miles south-west Madras, on the railway from Madras to Tanjore, 82 miles from Negapatam by rail. The South Indian railway, running from Tuticorin to Madras and Pondicherry, has its head quarters here. West of the railway station is Woriur, formerly a village, now a suburb, in which are situated the large and well-known cigar manufactories and cedar wood box factories. There is railway communication to the ports of Madras, Negapatam, Tuticorin, Beypore and Calicut, and with the rest of the Indian railway system. The city contains a population of 123,512, and stands second to Madras in importance in the Presidency.

KELLY'S
of the World.

This book is the most complete work which has ever been published in English, and indeed probably in any language, giving the various Customs Tariffs in force throughout the World.

By the use of the Index, Exporters are enabled to see at a glance what duty, if any, is levied on any article imported into any country.

Tables of Foreign Moneys, Weights and Measures, with their English equivalents, are given.

H.B.M.'s Consuls in all parts of the World have in their annual reports to the Foreign Office, repeatedly pointed out the importance to British Manufacturers of making their communications with prospective customers in the language of those with whom they wish to establish business relations. The tariffs have therefore been arranged so as to show the weights and measures and the duty on each article in the currency of the different countries.

"Ceylon Observer,"

Commercial Advertiser and Agricultural Record.

The Oldest Paper in the Colony.

Oldest (being established in 1834), yet most up-to-date, and circulating largely throughout Ceylon and Southern India.

The Largest Paper in the Colony.

Enlarged to 10 and 12 pages—60 and 72 columns, and almost daily Supplements, &c. Seven issues a week, including a Sunday edition.

The Largest Telegraphic Service.

The "Ceylon Observer" is the only paper that has supplied its readers continuously with European Telegraphic News since the Indian Cable was laid. Special Correspondents since engaged in London, Calcutta, Bombay, Singapore, Hongkong, Sydney, Melbourne, &c.

The Leading Planters' Paper.

Recognized generally as The paper for planting information of all kinds. Specially large circulation amongst leading practical Planters.

The NEWS Paper.

None to surpass it for prompt and reliable news, concerning everything which concerns the Island and its people.

We have always been to the front and are still going ahead.

The Best Advertising Medium.

The "C. O." is undoubtedly the Best and Most Reliable Medium for English and Foreign Advertisements. Advertisers in this way are enabled to find a market for their goods amongst the European community as well as the rich and well-to-do Natives, including Sinhalese, Tamil, Parsees, Malays, &c.

The Advertiser's "A B C" says :—There is no better medium for Advertising in Ceylon, to give it its due, than the "Ceylon Observer." The "Ceylon Observer" certainly leads the way.

CEYLON

CEYLON is an island, situated south-east of the peninsula of India, between latitudes 5° 59′ and 9° 51′ north, and longitudes 79° 41′ and 81° 54′ east. Area 25,332 square miles, or 16,000,000 acres. Its greatest length is from north to south, 266 miles, and greatest width from east to west, 140 miles. The population according to the census on March 10, 1911, is 4,105,595.

Governor and Commander-in-Chief—H. E. Sir Robert Chalmers K.C.B., Hon. LL.D. (Glas.).

Colonial Secretary—Reginald Edwd. Stubbs, esq.

The commerce is considerable; the vegetable, mineral and animal products are exceedingly various and valuable. The production of coffee, which at one time was the staple export, has been greatly reduced in recent years. Tea has taken its place, and is now cultivated in very large quantities. Industrial attention in the island was directed to the cultivation of tea, rubber, and other products, mainly in consequence of the prospects of coffee-growing being checked and finally blighted by the appearance of an ineradicable disease in the coffee leaf. It was only in 1880 that the Ceylon planters began to send tea to the English market in any quantity. In that year 115,000 lbs. of tea were shipped to the United Kingdom. In 1912 the total amount of tea exported was 191,029,387 lbs. valued at over Rupees 83,000,000, of which nearly 116,000,000 lbs. were shipped to the United Kingdom. There were at the end of 1913, over 399,000 acres in Ceylon planted with tea, and it has been proved that some parts of the country are capable of producing a greater yield of leaf per acre than any other country in the world. A check was given to tea extension in 1904-5 by attention to rubber-yielding trees, of which (1913) there were over 240,000 acres planted. The export of rubber during 1912 was 132,569 cwt. against 676 cwt. exported during 1904. The total exports during 1912 were valued at Rupees 198,954,902, excluding specie, and the imports were valued at Rupees 175,322,979, excluding specie.

The cultivation of cacao, cardamoms and cinchona bark has been attended with success. Coconut-palm oil and fibre and cinnamon have always been staples of Ceylon.

Plumbago is the only mineral of commercial importance, apart from the gems—ruby, sapphire, cat's-eye &c.—for which Ceylon is famous. The commercial intercourse of Ceylon is mainly with the United Kingdom and India. The banks on the north-west coast of the island of Ceylon are centres of the pearl-fishing industry, from which the finest pearls have been derived. The banks are under Government supervision, and from Jan. 1, 1906, were leased to a company, "The Ceylon Company of Pearl Fishers Ltd.," for a period of 20 years, but in August, 1912, the banks reverted to the Ceylon Government. There is a large and growing demand in Ceylon for British manufactures in clothing, drapery, millinery, hardware, provisions &c. All the mail and commercial steamers converge at Colombo, the great port of the East, so that its stores and shops are patronized by passengers from many parts, while there are three very superior hotels.

In 1911 the imports amounted to Rupees 156,986,106, and the exports to Rupees 180,525,959.

IMPORTS.—The chief imports are grain, spirits, kerosine oil, sugar and cotton goods.

The following table shows the relative positions of the various countries which export goods to Ceylon (the percentages being percentages of value):—

Countries.	1911. Per Cent.

COLOMBO.—This is the principal port of shipment, and is the seat of government and the chief mart of the island of Ceylon. The harbour is an artificial one, comprising a water area of 640 acres, inclosed by a S.W. breakwater 6,000 feet in length, which (with north-western and north-eastern breakwaters now completed) affords safe shelter for vessels at all seasons of the year. A graving dock for naval and commercial purposes has also been constructed. Chief exports: tea, rubber, plumbago, cocoa (chocolate), cardamoms, cinnamon, all the produce of the coconut palm (oil, coir, poonac, copra &c.), essential and citronella oils, ebony and other timber &c. Chief imports: cotton goods, oils, liquors, hardware, metals (rice and food-stuffs from India and Burmah). The population is now nearly 212,000. Here is a Chamber of Commerce.

Customs Tariffs

. of the .

World.

"A compilation to excite admiration not only by its obvious utility, but also by the mere greatness of the extent of its information."—Scotsman, 24th March, 1913.

"For export and import merchants this book is really invaluable and is unique of its kind. It is of the utmost value to shippers in this country."—London Chamber of Commerce Journal, April, 1913.

"Its information is most detailed and carefully compiled."—Globe, 27th March, 1913.

"Of great value to the mercantile world. Students of tariffs will find it complete to the last detail."—Daily News & Leader, 22nd March, 1913.

"Designed to meet a very real need of export and import merchants and manufacturers."—Newcastle Chronicle, 28th March, 1913.

"A volume the utility of which has been proved by experience."—Western Morning News, 28th March, 1913.

This book is the most complete work which has ever been published in English, and indeed probably in any language, giving the various Customs Tariffs in force throughout the World.

By the use of the Index, Exporters are enabled to see at a glance what duty, if any, is levied on any article imported into any country.

Tables of Foreign Moneys, Weights and Measures, with their English equivalents, are given.

H.B.M.'s Consuls in all parts of the World have in their annual reports to the Foreign Office, repeatedly pointed out the importance to British Manufacturers of making their communications with prospective customers in the language of those with whom they wish to establish business relations. The tariffs have therefore been arranged so as to show the weights and measures and the duty on each article in the currency of the different countries.

THE CAPE OF GOOD HOPE

THE coast is indented by several bays, namely, Table Bay, False Bay, Mossel and Algoa Bays. A considerable coast trade is carried on with Hondeklip, Walfisch and other bays on the west coast; and Mossel Bay, Port Elizabeth, Port Alfred, East London and Natal on the east coast. Fine steamers run regularly to and from England, and to and from Mauritius, Natal and intermediate ports.

The total population of the Cape of Good Hope in May, 1911, was 2,563,024. Of these 583,177 were whites. The area is 276,995 square miles.

COMMERCE.—The principal industries consist in the mining of coal, copper, gold, diamonds &c. the production of wine, and the raising of cattle, ostriches &c. The principal articles of export are wool, angora hair, sheep and goat skins, ostrich feathers, diamonds, gold, copper &c.

The Administrator of the Cape of Good Hope is the Hon. Sir Nicolaas Frederic de Waal, K.C.M.G. Cape Town.

CAPE TOWN is the chief city in South Africa and seat of the Legislature of the Union of South Africa, situated in Table Valley, and has a population, including suburbs (1911), 187,740 (whites 92,659). The docks comprise an area of about 77 acres, all excavated in the solid clay slate rock: a breakwater also runs out about 1,800 yards. The docks can accommodate a great number of vessels, and the quays are fitted with the latest appliances for the quick discharge and loading of cargo. The dry dock is one of the most capacious in existence. Salvage operations are undertaken by the Harbour Board.

Cape Town is connected by railway with all the principal towns in South Africa; the main line extends to the Congo State and Pretoria, besides being connected with the Natal system of railways and the Transvaal. Further lines are also being constructed throughout the country. Here is a Chamber of Commerce.

EAST LONDON, population (1911), 47,713 (whites, 18,191), the seaport of Orange Free State and Transkeian territories, lies at the mouth of the Buffalo River, about 38 miles south-east of King Williamstown. Dock area is 100 acres in extent, and is being dredged to a minimum depth of 24ft. 6in. Mouth of river is protected by a breakwater 1,600 ft.; training walls have been constructed narrowing river entrance to 250ft. Harbour improvement works on an extensive scale are being prosecuted. Dock space is approached from the anchorage by a navigable channel which is maintained by powerful dredgers. Here is a Chamber of Commerce occupying own building and conducting a Wool Exchange.

Lloyd's Agent, Fredk. Dyer (Dyer & Dyer Limited), Terminus street.

MOSSEL BAY, 240 miles east of Cape Town, population about 5,500, is the port of the prosperous agricultural districts of Oudtshoorn, George, Riversdale, Ladismith and Heidelberg. The anchorage in the bay is from six to ten fathoms deep and is considered an excellent harbour of refuge during gales from the N.W.. and S.W. Union-Castle Co.'s mail boats call every Sunday (on homeward journey) and intermediate boats call every other Thursday (outward bound). Wool, ostrich feathers, aloes and tobacco are largely produced in the district. Gold has been found in the vicinity of the Knysna. Here is a Chamber of Commerce.

NATAL

THE area is about 36,000 square miles, and the population in May, 1911, was 1,191,958 (whites, 98,582).

The staple products of the coast districts are sugar, coffee, arrowroot, pepper and tobacco; the banana, pineapple and most tropical fruits flourish under cultivation, and the other parts of the country are devoted to the growth of cereals and the breeding of horses, horned cattle and sheep. Tea is also grown.

The black wattle bark industry is now a flourishing one, and large quantities are exported (in 1912, 52,700 tons, valued at £283,000).

The coalfields, which are of large extent, are in direct communication with Durban, and a considerable export trade has been established; the export from Durban by sea in 1912 was 585,747 tons. The total output from the Natal collieries in 1912 was 2,472,111 tons.

The exports consist chiefly of wool, coal, gold, wattle bark, hides and skins.

The imports consist chiefly of apparel, haberdashery, flour and grain, leather goods, ironware, machinery, and wines, spirits &c.

The Administrator is the Hon. C. J. Smythe, Pietermaritzburg.

DURBAN or PORT NATAL, 800 miles by sea from Cape Town and 480 from Johannesburg, is a very fine land-locked basin, nearly equal to an artificial dock, and some years ago endeavours were so successfully made to remove the bar which formerly obstructed the entrance that steamers drawing 30 feet have been berthed at the wharfs. Steamers of any draught up to 13,000 tons can enter at any state of tide; average depth over 30 feet. There is a floating dock capable of lifting vessels of 8,500 tons. At the Point there are 12,185 feet of wharfage and over 24,000 sq. yards of wharf-sheds. There is also large timber wharfage at Congella at the top of the bay and extensive coaling accommodation at the Bluff. The outer anchorage is rather exposed in certain winds. Population (1911), 72,512 (whites, 33,271). The Union Government are at present devising a scheme for effectively fortifying the port. Salisbury Island in the Bay has been handed over to the Admiralty. Here is a Chamber of Commerce (Southern Life buildings, Smith street).

ORANGE FREE STATE

THIS province is bounded on the south by the Orange River, which divides it from the Cape of Good Hope, on the east by British Basutoland and Natal, on the north by the Transvaal, and on the west by the Transvaal and Griqualand West. The area is estimated at about 50,000 square miles. The total population in May, 1911, was 526,906, of which number 175,435 were whites. It is in the main a pastoral country, but increasing areas are being cultivated, and a considerable export trade in maize and wattle bark is developing; the rearing of sheep, goats, horses, horned cattle, mules and ostrich farming is, however, the principal industry. There are extensive deposits of coal of a good quality, and precious stones are found.

The Administrator is the Hon. Dr. A. E. W. Ramsbottom, Bloemfontein.

THE TRANSVAAL

Is situated north and east of the Cape of Good Hope, and between the Orange Free State and the Limpopo or Crocodile river. The area is about 112,000 English square miles, and the population in May, 1911, was 1,676,611, of which number 420,831 were whites. No part of the territory touches the sea. The nearest ports are Delagoa Bay, in Portuguese territory, and Durban, Natal. Gold mining is the chief industry of the country; the climate is also favourable for the breeding of cattle and sheep.

In addition to gold, the country is rich in minerals, coal existing in large quantities, also silver, copper, iron, lead, tin, zinc, galena, cobalt, diamonds &c.

Mineral Production, 1911—Gold, 8,237,723 fine ozs. value £34,991,620; Silver, 894,333 ozs. value £96,557; Diamonds 1,843,341 carats, value £1,628,876; Coal, 4,343,680 tons, value £1,020,539; Copper ore, 2,090 tons, value £51,675; Tin ore, 3,546 tons, value £414,021.

SOUTH AFRICA

The High Commissioner for South Africa is His Excellency the Rt. Hon. Viscount Gladstone P.C., G.C.M.G. Pretoria.

BASUTOLAND

BASUTOLAND lies to the north-east of Cape Province, and is bounded on the north and west by the Orange Free State and on the east by Natal. The area is estimated to be 10,293 square miles. The population in 1911 was 404,507, of whom 1,396 were whites. The territory formerly formed part of Cape Colony, but was annexed to the British Crown in March, 1884, and was constituted an independent colony governed by a Resident Commissioner, under the authority and direction of the High Commissioner for South Africa. The country produces enormous quantities of grain, also horses, cattle, sheep, pigs, goats &c.

The principal articles of import are woollen and cotton goods, haberdashery, saddlery, tinware, agricultural implements and groceries. The exports consist of wheat, mealies wool, hides and skins and cattle.

BRITISH EAST AFRICA

BRITISH EAST AFRICA PROTECTORATE

THE British East Africa Protectorate is bounded to the north by the river Juba and Abyssinia; to the south by the German territory; and to the west by the Uganda Protectorate, the eastern boundary of which is a line drawn from the eastern shore of Lake Victoria to Mount Elgon, and from thence up the Turkwell River to Lake Rudolph. The area is about 200,000 square miles, with an estimated population of 4,000,000. The number of whites in March, 1906, was 1,813.

On June 15th, 1895, a British protectorate was proclaimed over the whole of the territory from the coast to the boundaries of Uganda (including Witu), and on June 30th the Imperial British East Africa Co. evacuated the territory leased by them from the Sultan of Zanzibar, the administration being taken over by His Majesty's Government.

The territories of the British East Africa Co. embraced those parts of the islands and mainland of the Zanzibar dominions on the East Coast of Africa lying between Vanga and Kipini, both inclusive, with Lamu and Kismayu to the north of Kipini, and included the important harbour of Mombasa.

It is divided into seven provinces, each administered by a Provincial commissioner. Seyidie, capital Mombasa; Tanaland, capital Lamu; Jubaland, capital Kismayu; Ukamba, capital Nairobi; Kenya, capital Fort Hall; Naivasha, capital Naivasha; Kisumu, capital Kisumu. Each of these provinces is sub-divided into districts, each administered by a commissioner. The capital of the whole protectorate is Nairobi. Mombasa is the terminus of the Uganda railway. The harbour of Kilindini, which lies on the west side of the island, is the finest on the East Coast of Africa. The small native state on the coast, behind Lamu, known as the Sultanate of Witu, is included in the East Africa Protectorate (population about 15,000 inhabitants), the British resident in which is the Provincial commissioner of the Province of Tanaland.

The chief exports are copra, fibre, hides and skins, ivory, live stock, potatoes and rubber.

The Governor & Commander-in-Chief is Henry Conway Belfield esq. C.M.G.; Chief Secretary, Charles C. Bowring esq. C.M.G.; Assistant Chief Secretary, W. J. Monson esq.

The Export and Import trade of British East Africa Protectorate during 1911-12 amounted to £2,347,335.

KILINDINI, a harbour on the south-western side of Mombasa Island, is the finest land-locked and sheltered harbour on the east coast of Africa and is accessible to vessels of deepest draught. An ample water supply and deep water jetty is now in course of construction, which will make Kilindini the centre of distribution for the trade of Equatorial Africa. There is good warehouse accommodation and a pier connected with the Uganda railway.

LAMU, on the Indian Ocean, is a port of call for the Deutsche Ost Afrika Linie (of Hamburg), British India S.N. Co. Ltd. and Società Nazionale di Servizi Marittime. Population about 12,000. From here is an important trade done with the interior, principally cotton goods for ivory, india rubber &c. It is the chief port on the coast after Mombasa. The manufacture of bags from the dome palm is carried on. These mat bags are largely exported to Zanzibar, and there used for packing cloves.

Besides this, Lamu yearly exports a large quantity of copra, hides, mangrove bark for tanning and cowrie shells.

Owing to the rise in the prices for cotton, European settlers have established themselves on the Tana river and its neighbourhood, which, according to the Government cotton expert, is considered to be the best place for cotton growing in the East Africa Protectorate.

UGANDA

THE Uganda Protectorate lies to the north and west of Lake Victoria, on which is situated Entebbe, the headquarters of the British Administration. The total area is 121,437 square miles, including 16,377 square miles of water, and the population is estimated to be: Natives, 2,889,561; Asiatics, 3,110 and Europeans, 823. There is a railway connecting Uganda with the port of Mombasa on the east coast, the distance being 584 miles. Several good steamers ply between Port Florence (or Kisumu), the terminus of the railway on Lake Victoria, and Jinja, Port Bell for Kampala and Entebbe. These steamers carry passengers and cargo and connect with the bi-weekly mail train to Mombasa. During 1911, a railway was completed from Jinja to Kakindu on the Victoria Nile, a distance of 54 miles. This railway, known as the Busoga Railway, has since been extended to Namasagali, a distance of 7 miles down stream, giving access to the waterways of Lake Kioga. An Imperial loan of £100,000 was granted recently for improvements in the Eastern Province in order to cope with the rapidly increasing output of cotton. Kampala, the principal commercial centre, is being connected up with Port Bell, on Lake Victoria, some 7 miles away, by a railway at present under construction. The exports consist of raw cotton, cotton seed, cattle, hides and skins, ivory and rubber &c. The chief imports are foodstuffs, hardware, kerosene oil, timber, machinery, apparel, firearms, iron and steel &c.

The Governor & Commander-in-Chief, Sir Fredk. John Jackson K.C.M.G., C.B.; Chief Secretary to the Government, H. R. Wallis C.M.G.

ZANZIBAR

THE dominions of the Sultan of Zanzibar formerly comprised, in addition to the Islands of Zanzibar and Pemba, territories extending some 600 miles along the coast of the mainland as far north as Warsheikh and south of Tunghi Bay and indefinitely inland, together with the adjacent islands. In 1886 a commission of the three powers (Great Britain, France and Germany) marked out the western boundaries of the territory on the mainland, which may be stated as extending 10 miles inland from the sea. Since the cession of the coast line from Rovuma to Vanga, including the Island of Mafia, to Germany in 1890, the territory is bounded on the south by the boundary line between the British and German territories in East Africa, which extends in a north-westerly direction from the north bank of the mouth of the river Umba to where the 1st parallel of north latitude reaches Lake Victoria. This strip is under the nominal suzerainty of the Sultan of Zanzibar, but is administered by the Governor of British East Africa.

It was officially notified on Nov. 4th, 1890, that by agreement with the Sultan of Zanzibar, the dominions of His Highness were placed under the protection of His Britannic Majesty.

The island of Zanzibar is about 60 miles in length, and has an area of 640 square miles. The town is situated on the west of the island, and is the principal place of trade; the population of the island is 114,069, and of the town 35,202. Foremost among the products of the islands of Zanzibar and Pemba stand cloves, amounting to about four-fifths of the crop of the whole world, next to which comes copra. The imports consist principally of cotton goods, hardware, rice and food stuffs, and the exports from the coast of ivory, rubber, hides, gum copal and tortoiseshell.

ROUTE.—By the Union Castle Steamship Co.'s, the Ellerman-Harrison Line, the British India Steam Navigation Co.'s services; average time of journey, 30 days. A direct fortnightly passenger and cargo service between Zanzibar and England is maintained jointly by the British India S.N. Co. and the Union Castle S.S. Co. Also by the Messageries Maritimes Company, monthly, to and from Marseilles. The "Deutsche Ost Afrika Linie" maintains a two-weekly service from Hamburg, via Southampton, Marseilles and Naples, and a four-weekly cargo service from Hamburg. This company also runs a fortnightly service to and from Bombay. The Società Nazionale di Servizi Marittimi maintains a four-weekly service from Genoa.

ZANZIBAR—continued.

H.B.M.'s Agent and Consul-General is J. H. Sinclair (acting) (who is also Consul-General for German East Africa); George Bailey Beak, Vice-Consul.

PEMBA.—The population of the island of this name, situated north of Zanzibar island, from which it is separated by a channel 20 miles broad, is 83,130, and it has an area of 380 square miles. It is divided into three districts, Weti in the north, Chaki-Chaki in the centre, and Mkoani in the south. Chaki-Chaki is the principal town in the island, and Weti is the residence of the British consular agent. Large export trade, principally in cloves, which passes through Zanzibar, there being no direct trade between Pemba and foreign countries. The total value of the imports for 1912 was £144,820, and that of the exports £248,488.

British Consular Agent, Paul Sheldon (acting).

BRITISH CENTRAL AFRICA

NYASALAND

THE Protectorate of Nyasaland lies along the southern and western shores of Lake Nyasa and extends towards the Zambesi. The area is 39,801 square miles, and it is divided into thirteen administrative districts. The population in 1913 was estimated to be 1,020,537 natives, 356 Asiatics and 758 Europeans.

British Central Africa is divided into the Nyasaland Protectorate and the British Sphere of Influence beyond. The first-named is administered by a Governor and Commander-in-Chief, under the Imperial Government (Colonial Office), the last-named by the British South Africa Chartered Company.

The chief products are cotton, tobacco, tea, chillies, coffee, and rubber, which are largely exported; rice and other sub-tropical products are also grown.

Communications are maintained between Nyasaland and the sea (the chief "port" being Port Herald on the Shiré River) by the river steamers of the African Lakes Corporation and the British Central Africa Co. Limited. These vessels meet at Chinde, at the mouth of the Zambesi, with the ocean-going steamers of the Union Castle Steamship Company, Messrs. Rennie's line via Natal and the German East Africa Steamship Company (whose steamers connect Chinde with Beira, Zanzibar, Bombay, Naples, Durban, Cape Town and Hamburg). A railway is in course of construction between Port Herald and Lake Nyasa, via Chiromo. Blantyre and Zomba; 113 miles have already been completed, and traffic is possible as far north as Blantyre.

The chief town of Nyasaland is Blantyre, in the Shiré Highlands, where there is a population of about 230 Europeans. Other towns and settlements are:—Zomba (the headquarters of the administration), Port Herald and Chiromo. Fort Johnston, Bandawe, Kotakota, Likoma and Karonga are on Lake Nyasa.

COMMERCE.—Imports are chiefly through the port of Port Herald.

Exports, mainly through Chiromo, consist chiefly of cotton, tobacco, rubber, strophanthus, groundnuts, coffee, tea, chillies.

The Governor and Commander-in-Chief is George Smith esq. C.M.G., (Zomba); Major F. B. Pearce, C.M.G. Deputy Governor.

LLOYD'S AGENTS.—African Lakes Corporation Limited, Mandala (Blantyre).

The Export and Import trade of Nyasaland during 1912-13 amounted to Rupees 7,576,605, including specie.

SURRY HILLS, see SYDNEY.

SYDNEY, the capital of New South Wales, is the oldest city in Australia, and its trade volume entitles it to the position of the seventh city of the British Empire. The population was on 31st December, 1912, City of Sydney 116,400 and Suburbs 578,400. The harbour encircles the city with splendid deep-water bays in every direction, which permits the loading of vessels of the largest tonnage alongside its extensive wharves, which are some 30 miles in extent and are well equipped with modern machinery and elevators for the handling of grain, coal &c. Large stores are available for wool, frozen meat, wheat and other descriptions of produce, and bonded stores for dutiable merchandise. Every facility exists for docking, the docks and slips being capable of accommodating the largest vessels; the Government and Naval dockyards are situated here. The wool clip sold at Sydney in 1913 for 12 months ending 30 June at the Royal Exchange was valued at £9,162,942. Oversea imports into Sydney for the year 1912 valued at £32,303,630; oversea exports from Sydney for the year 1912 valued at £32,958,529. The principal items of export are wool, coal, frozen meat, butter, leather, timber, hides, skins and metals. Sydney is located over an immense coal bed, extending 80 miles south, 60 miles north and 70 miles west, and coal is being mined under the harbour bed and at numerous places in the above area; the value of coal produced in 1912 amounted to £3,660,015. The manufacturing industries are largely developed, numerous modern and well-equipped factories being distributed over the city and suburbs. The Royal Exchange (B. Millin, secretary) is situated at the corner of Pitt and Bridge streets and the Sydney Chamber of Commerce (C. U. B. Gurnett, secretary) is situated in Grosvenor street

NORFOLK ISLAND is the largest of a group lying 900 miles east-north-east of Sydney, in 29°3'45" south latitude and 167°58'6" east longitude. The other principal islands are PHILIP, NEPEAN and BIRD ISLANDS. The total area of Norfolk Island is 8,607 acres, undulated and exceedingly pretty. The population was 940, 30th December, 1907. None of the adjacent islands are inhabited. The administration of the affairs of the island has been placed under the government of New South Wales. The chief occupation is agriculture for domestic consumption; the men being also engaged in the whale fishery. Communication with the group is now maintained by Burns, Philp & Co. Limited line of mail steamers, subsidised by the Commonwealth Government to carry mails monthly to the New Hebrides, calling at Lord Howe Island and Norfolk Island, leaving Sydney on the first of every month and returning to that port on the 22nd, calling at Norfolk Island both ways. The chief village is Kingston, on the largest island.

BALLARAT (GRENVILLE CO.), a city and town in point of population and resources next to Melbourne. Some few years ago important discoveries were made in the quartz formations running through almost the centre of the city, the explorations of the Band and Albion Consols and other companies having revealed the existence of lodes which are of extreme richness, and which are paying. The consequence of these discoveries is, that mining operations are now pretty brisk. Hitherto known as the metropolitan alluvial goldfield, it has now changed that title, and has become the "premier" quartz goldfield. Claims have been taken up along the course of the lodes for a distance of some miles, and operations are being conducted at nearly all. The soil of the surrounding districts being generally of a rich volcanic character, and the land being mostly under cultivation, large quantities of agricultural produce are sent into Ballarat for sale, as well as station produce from the Western districts, in the shape of wool, sheepskins, hides, tallow &c. Population including Ballarat East, Sebastopol and Bungaree shire, 41,493.

BENDIGO (BENDIGO CO.) is the third city in point of population in the colony of Victoria. It is situated 101 miles north-west of Melbourne, and railway communication has existed between these two cities since the year 1864. Bendigo and the immediate district is supported chiefly by the mining industry principally quartz, the alluvial having been almost worked out for some time. Tomatoes are now grown in very large quantities and are of a very high quality, disused alluvial workings having been successfully converted for the purpose. A large tract of surrounding country has been opened up by closer settlement, and Bendigo has now become an important receiving centre for produce, and also does a great amount of distributing in the surrounding country. Large metallurgical works have been started, which treat pyrites and other ores, and recover large quantities of gold, also producing refined arsenic for export. Population (with Eaglehawk), 44,300.

FITZROY, see MELBOURNE.

FOOTSCRAY, see MELBOURNE.

GEELONG (GRANT CO.), one of the leading cities of Victoria, is 45 miles south-west of Melbourne, at the head of a deep inlet on the west side of Port Phillip. It is chiefly noted for its exports of wool, wheat, compressed fodder, frozen meat and leather, and for its manufactures, the banks of the Barwon being studded with industries of all kinds, including tanneries and wool scouring establishments. Corio Bay, nearly land-locked, anchorage good. Wharf frontage—Yarra Street jetty, 1,630 feet; Railway jetty, 1,600 feet; Moorabool jetty, 600 feet; Freezing Works jetty, 170 feet; Corio quay, 300 feet; and Customs House jetty, 220 feet. Increased wharfage accommodation and facilities for shipping wool, grain and other produce has been provided on the north shore of the harbour, and extensive freezing works erected by the Harbour Trust. Depth of water alongside at low water, 24 ft. 6 ins. One crane to lift three tons, and two cranes to lift two tons. The harbour is approached by channels cut through the bar, with the following depth of water at low tide:—24 feet 6 inches. It is proposed to deepen the channel to 30 feet and to widen it to 200 feet. The new channel is lighted at night with gas beacons at intervals on either side; those on the starboard hand with white lights, and those on the port hand with red lights. Rise of tide—average, 1 foot 9 inches, and in summer with prevailing easterly winds, tide falls 10 inches or 12 inches below low water given; westerly winds give better tides at neaps than full and change with easterly winds. Population (including suburban municipalities), 28,883. Here is a Chamber of Commerce (secretary, H. Béchervaise).

PORT FAIRY (VILLIERS CO.) is on the southern coast of the colony of Victoria. It is situated on the river Moyne, and is recognised as being one of the principal seaside resorts; good and safe ocean bathing; lovely climate; distance from Melbourne,187 miles. Population about 2,000. Large quantities of dairy produce, such as butter, cheese, bacon, condensed milk &c., also fat sheep, cattle and swine, are sent from Port Fairy to Melbourne and other markets. The land in the immediate vicinity is noted for its richness, and although it is continually under crop, the annual yield of potatoes, wheat, oats, barley and onions is enormous.

GLADSTONE (PORT CURTIS DISTRICT), on the shores of one of the finest natural harbours on the Australian coast, is 328 miles north-west of Brisbane, population about 2500. Large trade in live stock carried on. The chief industries are cattle-raising, horse breeding and mining. The town owes its existence chiefly to the gold discoveries made inland from it, varying in distance from 12 to 90 miles away, the chief of which are Calliope goldfield, 12 miles: Norton, 50 miles; Targinnie, 12 miles; Callide, coal mines, 60 miles; Monal, 90 miles or less. A valuable copper lode exists at Glassford Creek, Mount Hector, Mount Rainbow and Mount Cannindah, while excellent steam coal has been discovered at Callide. The town is connected by railway with Many Peaks, a mining town, which supplies the Mt Morgan Mines with fluxing material. Large quantities of marble in the vicinity of Calliope goldfield, and manganese and fireclay are found in the neighbourhood. Mt. Larcombe scrub lands with an area of over 12 square miles, about 20 miles from Gladstone are now being settled on, most of the settlers growing sugar cane. Exports frozen beef, butter, eucalyptus oil and various ores. The largest steamer can call in at any state of the tide. Splendid berthing accommodation (ferro-concrete).

Large deposits of lime-stone now being worked by The Ambrose Lime & Cement Co. with all ingredients for cement manufacture, 20 miles from Gladstone, alongside north coast railway line. The lime-stone is supplied to the Queensland Copper Co. for flux, and the lime burnt at the kilns is distributed to all parts of Queensland to the sugar mills, who use large quantities for refining purposes.
